

I qualified as a primary teacher back in 1994 and started my current job at Marton in 2005. During this time I have married the love of my life, had two beautiful sons (well... my wife has!) and moved house twice, so it's been an eventful decade for me.

I live in Scotton, near Knaresborough, and when not in school I enjoy playing badminton for Ripon and also love cycling, whenever I manage to find the time.
